The world we now know was once a lush and bountiful place. The mysterious forces of nature flourished in this Garden of Eden, and in the towering architectural forms of the titans rose the first civilizations. A civilization that gave birth to Gavril, the majestic and godlike ruler who ruled a kingdom known as Hvalin. We know that centuries later Hvalin was ravaged by devastating wars and is now a mountainous, uninhabitable waste where few creatures exist. Gavril retreated into a cave in the mountains, and it is said that he sleeps there to this day. A small group of adventurers, accompanied by a mechanically-gifted mage, travel to the depths of the Desert of Lost Souls to seek out a route to the cold wastelands of Hvalin. For it is said that there lies a secret that is the key to ending Gavril's slumber. In his sleep Gavril is plagued by a demon inside his head. Not the product of a brutal murder, but one of immense power and purpose. And this inner demon wants Gavril to awaken... The Demon Awakens is an action RPG being developed with RPG Maker MZ. What's new in Nancy Drew®: The White Wolf Of Icicle Creek:

? Andrea would be of the same opinion. She'd say something like, "That's a Bobcat tractor, was introduced in 1951. It has a 50-hp two-cycle engine. It has a 24-inch diameter track and a 10,900-gallon capacity. The Bobcats were well-suited to the prairie and dairy farmer applications. The Bobcat was discontinued in 1962." Andrea might also point out that a Bobcat is a cultivator, not a tractor. She'd know, because she worked summers on her grandparents' farm learning the terminology. The problem this summer is that the owner of the tractor and equipment that stopped Andrea's family from getting off their trailers on a weekend with their two kids is none other than Donald Trump. In his various barns and other assorted cabins dotted around Northern Scottsdale, Trump has a self-proclaimed "tractor museum." And one of the artifacts on display is a "Model 1914 Tractor" that proudly shows a photo of the tractor with a John Deere logo and its trade name above the front wheels - "Deere Model 1914." The tractor appeared on Stephen Colbert's CBS show in March and with characteristic self-deprecating humor stated, "It's just a working tractor, nothing special." The issue of the worked farmer being used by capital-rich, "brand loyal" Ford is regularly trotted out in commercials. While not yet on the farm, Donald Trump has his sights on running for the 2012 presidential election. Sadly, the Hummer, too, is a prime example of over-reaching, excessive capital investment for any constituency other than a few hedge fund and other financial gangsters who love publicity. Trump plans to revitalize the city of Baltimore by building and paving roadways and bridges. Trump's plans for post-holiday, 2000 are to profit off the war on terrorism and claim that rebuilding Baltimore will not just help the city's economy but bring thousands of jobs to the area. Most people cannot remember, much less believe, the story that just a few weeks ago, the entire Wall Street district of Manhattan had been completely obliterated by fire and a week later, not a single office building survived. The commercial real estate industry, including Trump's, has been heavily subsidized in the interest of lining the pockets of the super-rich, who then use that money to lobby the legislators to reconsider the regulations that have been promoting the drive for profit in politically correct ways. They are being subsidized
